

AI4AI: EXPLORING THE ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE NEEDS OF THE PUBLIC SECTOR

The conversation on policy to govern use of artificial intelligence (AI) has only just begun.

SPIA is hosting a facilitated discussion in partnership with IEEE, the world's largest technical professional organization dedicated to advancing technology for the benefit of humanity, about creating and using AI ethically in public sector settings.

Facilitators from IEEE will guide this stimulating discussion on the emerging intersection of AI, public sector needs and ethical considerations.

As a participant, you will walk away with an increased sense of clarity and confidence about the opportunities and challenges AI presents your department, company or organization, as well as contribute to the development of offerings aimed at supporting those in the public sector.

Come join us for this important half-day event!
